

When Jim Met the Giant

When Jim met the giant,
The giant could not see,
And so the giant said to Jim,
"Please help me!
I'll give to you a golden coin
If there's something you can do."
"Of course!" said Jim,
"I know the very thing to help you!"

And off Jim went and came back with glasses!

When Jim met the giant,
The giant had no teeth,
And so the giant said to Jim,
"I see the gums beneath!"
I'll give to you a golden coin
If there's something you can do."
"Of course!" said Jim,
"I know the very thing to help you!"

And off Jim went and came back with false teeth!

When Jim met the giant,
The giant had no hair,
And so the giant said to Jim,
"My head is very bare!"
I'll give to you a golden coin
If there's something you can do."
"Of course!" said Jim,
"I know the very thing to help you!"

And off Jim went and came back with a wig!

When Jim met the giant,
He had to run away,
Because the giant made it clear
That with his life he'd pay,
So down the beanstalk Jim did climb,
And when he chopped it down,
And a letter and a golden coin
Came falling to the ground.

'Thank you, Jim, from your friend, The Giant'
