

Exploring poetry: question and answer poems

This is a poem that is made up of questions and answers:

The appalling behaviour of Daniel McDrew

Who put sausages in the glue?
Not me Miss, it must have been Stu.

Who ate all the felt tip pens?
Not me Miss, that was my friends.

Who is making that silly noise?
Not me Miss, blame the other boys.

Who cut off all of lovely Sarah's hair?
Not me Miss, it was them over there.

Who called the head teacher a silly fool?
Not me Miss, that's breaking the rules.

Who shouted 'Fire!' when the infants were at play?
Not me Miss, I'm sure that was Faye.

You are a very naughty boy, Daniel McDrew
Come on, own up, we know it was you.

There's glue on your hands and pen on your face,
We know your voice like no other child's in this place.
Sarah's hair is in your tray and the infants dobbed you in.
Just own up Daniel, there's no way you'll win!

And one more thing I can tell you for free,
Is that we caught it all on CCTV!

Where is the rhyme in this poem? _____

What could you say about the way it is structured?

---

---

Exploring poetry: writing your own question and answer poem

Using the structure of 'The appalling behaviour of Daniel McDrew', can you write your own question and answer poem?

Who put _____

Not me Miss, _____.

Who ate _____

Not me Miss, _____.

Who is _____

Not me Miss, _____.

Who cut off _____

Not me Miss, _____.

Who called _____

Not me Miss, _____.

Who shouted _____

Not me Miss, _____.