

Monday 13th July 2020-Home Learning-Day 65

It was lovely to see so many of you last Friday. I was very impressed to see all the fantastic work you have completed in your home learning books. You all looked so grown up and totally ready for the challenges of Year 4.

As this week is the final week of term (then we break up for the summer!) our work will be a little different, starting with an activity for your Year 4 teacher, Mr. Nagre.

I have selected a few workbooks and would like you to do the suggested activities each morning (the workbooks are pretty long so I wouldn't print out the entire workbook if I were you).

Then, once you've finished your morning activities, I've chosen, what I hope, are some fun activities - some online games (see links below) and colouring activities that you can have a go at either in the afternoons or during the summer break, or both!

To have some creative challenges I would recommend, if you are able to access BBC IPlayer, 'Mister Maker at Home' or go to this link Mister Maker and look at the various projects you could try at home over the summer (for some you might need to wait until you have all the bits you need, I really like the look of this one, lots of empty washing up bottles needed though - you need to watch from about 4 minutes through to 6 minutes Powder painting).

Another potential creative outlet is through Amazon Prime called Creative Galaxy or use this link to find out more - Creative Galaxy

I hope you enjoy your final week of being Year 3! I think you are all amazing and have enjoyed being your teacher - Have a great summer everyone!

Mr. Rowe
