

Reflections

This week we have been learning about the moon. One of the books we have read was called Man on the Moon. We learned how the moon has no light of its own, but when the sun shines onto its surface it seems to shine too. It reflects the sun's light.

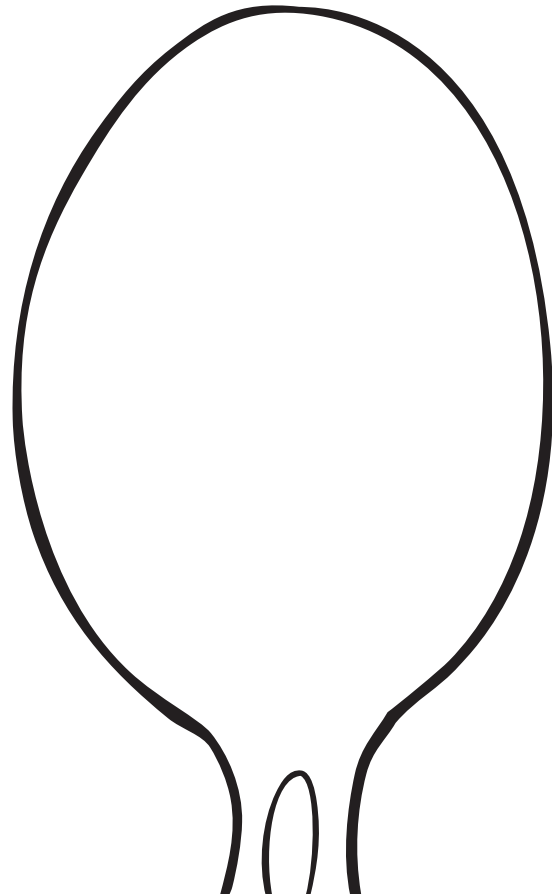

Talk together about places where you might see your reflection. You might find it in a bowl of water, a mirror, or a window. What does your reflection look like in a spoon? Is it the same on both sides?

Ask your child to draw their reflection in both sides of the spoon below. Make sure they check their pictures in a real spoon!

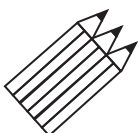

front

back

This activity was:

a bit hard

just right

too easy

We enjoyed this activity:

a lot

a bit

not much