

History

Today in history, I'd like you to imagine you have been on holiday in London and then write a postcard to a friend telling them all about your holiday.

I have set it as a 2DO (2DO: London) so that I can read them.

What sort of things do you think your friend would want to hear about?

Often when we send postcards, they are about the places we have visited or explored.

You could include how you feel about your holiday in London and the different things you have done.

Challenge yourself to ask your friend a question and make sure you use the correct punctuation for your sentences starting with capital letters and finishing with full stops.
